CRUISE SHIP

On Sunday the 11th June, Dili once again hosted a Port Call for a cruise ship. Approximately 400 passengers came ashore and visited a local craft market. Mikrolets shuffled passengers to and from 7 different locations around Dili.

PORTUGUESE CULTURE

There was a three-day celebration of Portuguese culture, food and drink at the Timor Plaza to mark that country's national day, which falls on June 10th. On the Friday night, Sky Garden was packed with revellers for a Happy Hour dedicated to Portugal featuring music ranging from traditional Fado songs to pop classics and the latest contemporary sounds. On Saturday and Sunday, the public had a chance to learn more about the wide range of Portuguese products that are available in Dili's shops and restaurants at the Festival of Portuguese Gastronomy. Delicious Portuguese snacks, beer and wine were on sale at the event, which was opened by H.E. the Portuguese Ambassador, Mr Manuel Gonçalves de Jesus, and attended by officials from the Portuguese Embassy and the Timor-Leste Ministry of Commerce and Industry.
